Jebb,

It is after 10 pm, I am still at the office and I probably will be for quite a while. Sorry, I didn't get my e-mail out regarding Maher. I just checked my messages and heard your phone call from earlier, thanks. Yes, hopefully between the two of us, we can put something together.

Agreement

Tuesday, May 28, 2002 3:34 AM

From: "Matt O'Malley" <mtoski@yahoo.com>
To: "M Hawash" <mhawash@attbi.com>

Maher,

Too many things to do this weekend and some pc hassle to boot. I am about 80% done on the changes to the Agreement and I hope to finish it soon. I still haven't tried buring a copy of AI yet or putting together the list of MP3 OEMs, hopefully that will be soon as well. I am sending this e-mail from my notebook, because I was having problems with the cable modem.

facility search

To: brijam@jamison.org

Brian,

I am up in San Jose, so it may need to be next week before I can get a hold of some day trader friends of mine. The one brokerage house that I was referring to last Saturday, is called Andover. They have an office in Westwood (which I have not been to) and one near my home in Encino. As we talked about, these types of facilities usually have high-end systems with dual monitors - that basically sit idle after 1 pm everyday - including the weekends. So its probably worth a little investigating. I won't be back by this Saturday, but lets talk next week or the next Saturday.

Good luck,

Either we can use LA based talent (A2K) or have them do it remotely (ie. Vox Talent out of Canada at the very bottom of this email). See Excel spreadsheet for names with "x" as possibilities (2 worksheets inside the excel attachment).

The next two links below are both for Agency 2000 (A2K) which is listed as a non-union voice over source in Los Angles. One is a third party link and the other is their direct link, but the names on the 2 lists are very different.

Came across this VC while doing some research. Look at "what they're looking for" ~ I think this can help shape the presentation/pitch ~ and they may also be someone we want to approach

Matt -

Looks good! A couple of comments:

- Case: supporting "slide-in" templates for custom branding
- Regarding numeric keypad: we should also get pricing on using slide-in templates here, so that the keys can be easily and cost-effectively customized for different customers
- Regarding the speaker - do we want polyphonic sound (like Wayne's cell phone)? I'm guessing it's not necessary...

Maher,

Please look over my rough attempt at our hardware specs and fill in what's missing. I would like to send something off today, if possible (we can always amend it later). Also please run this by your friend. Ideally we would get individual component pricing and not a lumped sum. thanks

TelAbout / Lunch?

Thursday, December 5, 2002 3:13 AM

From: "Matt O'Malley" <mtoski@yahoo.com>
To: "Tim Sanders" <tim@thefinalmile.net>

Dear Mr. Sanders,

We meet briefly after your session yesterday – which I enjoyed. I mentioned that we are looking to negotiate rooftop agreements in some larger cities. I was curious if your schedule would allow meeting today, either during the lunch break (lunch at 12:35 pm, next door at the Westin hotel) or this evening after the exhibits around 6:15 pm? (I already have a 5-6 pm meeting).

If these times are not good, perhaps we could talk by phone or emails next week – unfortunately/fortunately, we are rather heavily booked with appointments the rest of today and tomorrow. It's probably easier to leave a message on my cel phone - verses scheduling via email.

Hi Eber, thank-you for the update. I knew she thought she should go . I called about 9:30
and didn't hear back, so I called later and then I did call the hospital very late.. and talked to her.
She did sound pretty good, considering. ( I didn't know what room she was in )

Thank-you once again Dear Friend, for you kindness. have a really good day

Hi Caron.Just for the record, I took your mother into Baraboo Hospital last night around 8:00 PM. At first they thought that they might send her home yet last night after giving her IV and after taking x-rays. But the Dr saw her legs and thought they would keep her to see what can be done with the infection. She is in room 3382 and telephone is 355-1778. Eber
